TWO KILLED IN CRASH IN ALBANY SATURDAY

Mrs. Bessie Adams and Bertram Mason, both of North Lovell, were instantly killed Saturday afternoon when the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree at Lynchville. Jesse Adams, Mrs. Adams' husband, and John Robinson of Philadelphia and Lovell, driver of the car, were taken to the C. M. G. Hospital at Lewiston. Adams suffered a dislocated hip and severe lacerations and Robinson a fractured skull.

It is said that the car was not traveling rapidly, but failed to complete the curve at the cement bridge, going some distance in the soft sand before hitting the tree.

Mrs. Adams is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Marion Smith of Norway and Mrs. Eunice Brown of East Stoneham; six sons, Paul, Winfield, Howard, Arthur, Chester and Ernest; and several grandchildren.

Mr. Mason had no near relatives.

A Week of the War — BARUCH COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS IN EFFECT AT ONCE

All motorists in the non-rationed areas of the country were asked by Price Administrator Herlerson to observe the same rules in using their cars that are enforced in the rationed Eastern area, as a means of conserving rubber tires until a national gasoline rationing plan can be put into effect. He said it will be several weeks before coupon ration books can be printed to carry out the nation-wide gas rationing recommended by the Baruch Rubber Committee. Unless the nation's 27,000,000 motorists cut their driving "to the bone," Mr. Henderson said, "we're likely to coast right into Hitler's lap."

The White House issued a chart prepared by the Society of Automotive Engineers showing that the normal life of a tire is doubled when the average driving speed is reduced from 40 to 20 miles an hour, or from 50 to 30 miles an hour. The President said he thought the chart should be brought to the attention of the country as a persuasive argument for slow driving.

The Baruch Rubber Committee recommended that motorists be curtailed to a general average of 5,000 miles a year. The Committee also recommended a national speed limit of 35 miles an hour and compulsory periodic tire inspection. Complete reorganization of Government agencies concerned with the rubber program and appointment of a Rubber Administrator with full responsibility for conservation and synthetic programs were also recommended. Additional rubber must be released to fully maintain essential civilian driving, reclaiming operations must be stepped up and to increase synthetic production, the Committee recommended immediate expansion of plant capacity for Buna-S, butadiene, neoprene and alcohol, and elimination of any further substitution in plans for synthetic production. The President told his press conference virtually all of the Committee's recommendations except gasoline rationing will be put into effect immediately.

The War Front

Gen. MacArthur's Australian headquarters reported Allied forces have kept the Japanese thrust toward Port Moresby bottled in the towering Owen Stanley mountains while Allied aircraft swept the seas surrounding the island, bombing enemy supply ships. Gen.

GOVERNOR SUMNER SEWALL

MacArthur announced Sept. 14 that United Nations bombers attacked three Japanese cargo ships, apparently bound for New Guinea, and American Flying Fortresses bombed a Japanese cruiser off the southeast coast of New Britain. Earlier, the Fortresses hit two enemy destroyers in the same area. Japanese bombers continued to attack U. S. forces in the Solomons and the enemy has "reinforced and supplied" Japanese troops in the interior of Guadalcanal where U. S. Marines are engaged in mopping up operations. The Navy reported the Navy said that 20 more Japanese planes have been shot down in three heavy bombing attacks bringing to at least 143 the number of Jap planes officially reported shot down since operations began Aug. 7.

U. S. Army headquarters in London reported American Flying Fortresses and medium bombers successfully bombed the Schiedam shipyards at Rotterdam, railway yards at Utrecht, an airplane factory and the St. Omer airfield in Nazi-occupied France. Damage to intercepting enemy planes included 17 fighters destroyed, 25 more probably destroyed and 25 damaged. Two Fortresses were listed as missing, the first American losses in 12 straight attacks on Nazi ter-

BIG TIME STUFF

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare

On the first day of September, the greatest war the world has ever known entered its fourth year. Those three years have witnessed a series of almost uninterrupted triumphs for Hitler and his satellites. The timetable of conquest makes almost incredible reading: Poland fell in 28 days, Denmark in one day, Norway in two months, Belgium in 18 days, France in 43 days. Of all the nations Hitler has invaded, Russia alone remains. It is very likely that the historians of the future will write that Russia was the savior of the free world. Whatever happens, the magnificent resistance of the Red Army will mark one of the brightest and bravest pages in the long and sanguinary history of combat.

On December 7, 1941, Japan joined hands with the Axis. And the Jap timetable of conquest is comparable to that of Hitler. Guam was taken in five days. Wake Island was conquered in 14 days, after a superb defense by a handful of United States Marines. Malaya, with its supposedly impregnable naval base at Singapore, fell in 54 days. The Philippines were forced to surrender in a little less than five months. In short, the war so far has consisted largely of a series of disasters for United Nations' forces and a series of great victories for the dictators. That is simply a matter of record, and it does no service to the democratic cause to attempt to hide the truth.

Basically, the cause of all this is simply explained: The enemy was ready for war, and we and our Allies were not. The enemy understood precisely what total war means and we did not. In Germany and Japan there are no strikes. There is no shilly-shallying on the part of officials of the government. There is a grim and all-encompassing efficiency. The Axis means to destroy us utterly, and every resource at its command is devoted completely to that end.

So much for the debit side. On the credit side there is also a great deal to say at the end of three years of war. The quality of the United Nations' fighting men is first class. Only a little of the long and bloody story is now known—but that little is magnificent. The RAF after Dunkirk, the Russians before Sevastopol, the Dutch airmen and sailors in the East Indies, the U. S. Army in Bataan, the Marines in the Solomons—in those campaigns free men wrote with their blood a glorious saga of courage and achievement. The Germans and the Japs have paid a tremendous price for their victories.

There is much to be said also for American war production. The burden of supplying the troops of all the United Nations falls squarely on us. No other nation has even a tithe of our potential productive capacity. And it can be said to the everlasting credit of American industry that the changeover from production for peace to production for war, was generally made swiftly and effectively. But there are many bad spots still. We have not yet achieved, in many vital lines, the essential production goals which have been laid down. There has been mismanagement in labor, in government, and in industry itself. These bad spots must be erased before we can carry the war fully to the enemy. No American should feel optimistic today. He should feel, instead, that infinitely more must be done before victory can be assured. He must not forget that this war can be lost if we fail to coordinate our efforts.

It is a favorite saying in Washington that "the American people don't yet realize the gravity of the situation." But, as many columnists have been pointing out, Washington officialdom has created confusion and indecision in the minds of the people. The conflicting "official reports" that still seep out of Washington concerning such basic issues as rubber, fuel, gasoline, the draft, etc., have attained the stature of a national scandal. Only lately, through Elmer Davis' Office of War Information, has a start been made toward clarifying official policy. Every poll indicates that the American people are willing, ready and even eager to make any necessary sacrifice—if only their leaders will tell them simply and clearly what sacrifices are needed.

We are just beginning to feel the economic effects of the war. Non-essential businesses are closing fast. Whole occupations—such as that of the salesman—are being virtually wiped out. As store inventories run down, it will be impossible to buy such once-plentiful commodities as radios, stoves, water heaters, and any number of other conveniences. Taxes will be even heavier next year than they are now, and it seems inevitable that a sales tax and some form of enforced savings will soon be adopted. In many fields, the labor shortage is acute. These are but a few of the consequences of total war.

As the war enters its fourth year, Germany and Japan dominate an immense part of the globe. They have gained through conquest, gigantic quantities of vital raw materials. Despite its losses, the German Army is still the most potent military machine on earth. But, at the same time, America's growing military power is at last being felt. The U. S. Army is increasing fast in numbers, and it is being superbly equipped. The U. S. Navy and Air Forces have demonstrated that they have splendid striking power and brilliant leadership. The courage of Allied fighting men is beyond question. To paraphrase Winston Churchill's phrase, if we give these fighting men enough tools, they will finish the job.

ON SUNDAY MORNING, IF HEADACHES COME, - OR ANY OTHER DAY, HOP OUT OF BED AND EASE YOUR HEAD THE ALKA-SELTZER WAY.

THE ANALGESIC (painreliever) in Alka-Seltzer acts quickly because it is fully dissolved and ready to go to work as soon as you swallow it. Its painrelieving action is made more positive by alkaline buffers which protect it and speed up its action.

Because Alka-Seltzer contains an analgesic and alkaline buffer salts, it is used by millions for the relief not only of headaches, but of Cold Symptoms, Acid Indigestion, Migraine, Fatigue, "Morning After" and Muscular Pains.

At your drug store in handy packages and by the glass.

Be Wise - Try Alka-Seltzer

To the Voters of Oxford County:

I thank you for the faith in my integrity which you demonstrated by your vote on Monday, Sept. 14, and assure you of my continued effort to justify that faith.

rope and "Preparations are being made here and in Britain toward this purpose." Under Secretary of War Patterson, speaking in Muskegon, Mich., said that more than 600,000 men in the armed forces are overseas and this force "will be doubled and doubled and doubled to the limit of our manpower." W. Averell Harriman, Special Lend-Lease Minister to London, said the Russians "are determined to fight to the finish...alone with their own resources if need be. But they will fight on with even more strength and courage if we give effective aid."

The Armed Forces

Army Ground Forces Commander McNair announced the number of Army divisions in existence or being mobilized has more than doubled since Jan. 1.

War Secretary Stimson announced the Air Transport Command will establish an experimental unit of 50 trained women aviators, the Women's Auxiliary Ferrying Squadron, to ferry smaller Army planes from factories to airfields.

Transportation

Office of Defense Transportation Director Eastman announced "No special train or bus service, including charter bus service, to football games or other sports events will be permitted. At the same time I am directing that steps be taken by my office to prevent the overcrowding of regular trains serving areas in which such events are to be held." The Interstate Commerce Commission ruled that for the duration all railroad carriers may disregard any present regulations governing length of trains when necessary to assure prompt movement of freight or passengers.

The ODT ordered all operators of commercial rubber borne vehicles except motorcycles to carry and show a "Certificate of Necessity" in order to obtain gasoline, tires or parts after Nov. 15. The regulation covers almost 5,000,000 non-military trucks, 150,000 buses, 50,000 taxicabs and all ambulances and hearses. Applications for certificates, as well as other pertinent information, will be mailed about Sept. 23 to all persons who registered last Dec. 31 as owners of motor vehicles available for public rental.

War Production

War Production Chairman Nelson asked war workers to stop taking an extra day off and to refrain from "quickle" strikes over minor grievances because such absences slow production. He said the nation's production record is not nearly good enough. The President by Executive Order prohibited payment of "penalty double time" pay for work on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, but permitted payment of double-time for the seventh consecutive day's work and of time-and-a-half for all overtime work after 40 hours a week. Under Secretary of War Patterson said U. S. plane production in August was greater than that of Germany, Italy and Japan combined and tank production, already at an impressive high, will be twice as great in December.

"TELL THE BOYS... A LITTLE HOLD-UP"

"You just wouldn't believe a thing like this could happen here," I told John when he came home last night. "Here is a war plant closed down because of a dispute between two unions. Think of it, when every minute is precious, those men stop work just because the unions couldn't agree on which one should have a contract with grocery clerks. And because they couldn't agree the wholesale houses were tied up, of course that tied up the retail stores. Isn't it ridiculous?"

"Sure it's ridiculous," John said, "because the unions said no more strikes after Pearl Harbor," but they've had plenty of them since then. In fact, there were 222 war work stoppages in July alone, and over the most rival issues."

"This is the way I feel about it," I told John. "I can't help thinking about all the boys we know right in our own neighborhood who are out there fighting right now. I wonder how they'd feel if they heard their friends and relatives over at the new plant were sitting down on the job."

"Look," I said. "Here's something I read in a Detroit paper about that grocery strike:

Private Joe Smith, U. S. A.
Somewhere in Egypt
Dear Joe:

Guess you'll hafta tell the boys there was a little hold-up in getting 'em the goods. There's been a little trouble here in town about who's gonna get the union dues of some grocery clerks.

Had to shut down the town's largest war production plant cause of it! Joe, I don't get it, but the story is that the union's organizing drive on grocery clerks kinda spread out to the gun-makin' factory.

Some of the guys here think it's funny, but I kinda thought of you over there, and what a fix you'd be in if you lost your shootin' iron in a scrap.

Cousin, Will.

Slip Cover Do's and Don'ts

IT won't be long now until we see the last of our slip covers for this season. And for next summer's sake, let's give them a good clean send-off.

Shake them well and brush along the piping to remove loose dirt and dust. Make a color test - if the dye turns out to be a good-for-nothing, have them dry cleaned. If, however, the colors are fast, soak them for a short time in lukewarm suds to loosen the dirt. Wash in lukewarm suds. Rinse and dry as you would any other colored cotton or linen material. Don't pack away until absolutely dry.

Glassed chintz calls for a sponge bath instead of tubbing. Squeeze out a sponge in lukewarm suds and clean quickly; otherwise the glaze is destroyed. Rinse off suds with sponge wrung out of clear water.

Slip covers are bordered with cotton ball-fringe, let the fringe hang downward while drying. And don't put them through the wringer - it flattens the ball fringe.

Personally, I think it's a waste of time to iron slip covers - and summer dresses and curtains - before they're stored. Rough dry, they take up less space and can be packed where dust can't possibly get at them. Then again, it saves repetition - for no matter how carefully they are put away, they always have to be ironed again in the spring.

OFFICIAL U. S. TREASURY
WAR BOND QUOTAS FOR SEPTEMBER

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—September War Bond Quotas for the 3,070 counties in the nation were announced today by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, to make up the national September total of $775,000,000.

The September quota for the State of Maine is $4,500,000.

In fixing the county quotas, the Treasury has continued its announced policy of setting the monthly quotas in line with the seasonal distribution of income with the billion-dollar monthly national average as the annual goal.

The national quota for May, when the national average was $800,000,000, was $600,000,000. For June the quota was $800,000,000 and July it jumped to $1,000,000,000. The August quota was $815,000,000, so to maintain the billion-dollar monthly average, the quotas for the September and Winter months must necessarily be stepped considerably to reach the objective set.

First Allied Victory

On a cloudy Sunday morning, Sept. 15, 1940, the Germans sent across the Channel the greatest enemy force to attack England since the Armada. In two great waves, 250 Nazi planes, bombers, dive bombers and fighters dived over the cliffs and beaches. Up to meet them went R.A.F. Spitfires and Hurricanes. All morning long in a cube of air 80 miles long, 40 broad, and 6 miles high over southern England, the pilots of the R.A.F., usually outnumbered, dove and twisted and climbed, always attacking. Countryside and streets were littered with burning aircraft. After 3½ hours the Germans turned tail, having lost 43% of their planes.

In the afternoon came another armada of 250 planes. Again the weary pilots "scrambled" and their squadrons bored upwards. Open-mouthed watchers saw the lacy vapor trails in the sky that mapped the progress of a hundred dogfights. Again the Nazis were beaten off. Sept. 15 was the first great Allied victory. It was the turning point of the Battle of Britain, the winning of which saved from invasion the only United Nations stronghold in Europe.

OXFORD COUNTY UNITED PARISH ITEMS

We are sorry that there was a misunderstanding in regard to the schedule last Sunday, and that through it the East Stoneham folks lost their service. In order that we may do better next Sunday let us have the schedule here before us: East Stoneham and North Waterford: 9:45 a. m. Center Lovell and Waterford: 11:15 a. m. Albany: 2:30 p. m. Note that Waterford is turning again to the later hour, and that the Albany Service has been moved to the afternoon. We are certainly sorry that through a mistake of ours we should fail to meet the people who come out for Church. The thing that bothers us more often seems to be that we fail to find the folks when we are there. Wouldn't it be good as we are starting out for the fall work for both people and minister to be at Church together. Don't we really need it these days?

Thursday night, a supper at Albany; and we are hoping we will find there a singer we will all want to hear. We are promising nothing, but we are hoping! At any rate we will all be happy to gather once more around the tables in the Vestry.

Then, a week from Thursday night, we will be gathering in a similar way around the tables at East Stoneham. We will be looking for you there.

The Pilgrim Fellowship Groups are continuing, or renewing their activity. They had a good social last week, starting by the Lake, and ending at the Stoneham Vestry. Next Sunday evening the Lovell Group will meet at the Parsonage; and the Waterford Group, also at the Waterford Parsonage. In the meantime, on Friday evening, the East Stoneham-North Waterford Group will have met at the Vestry.
